Understanding Rubric Level Progressions

October 2014

edTPA stems from a twenty-five-year history of developing performance-based assessments of teaching quality and effectiveness. The Teacher Performance Assessment Consortium (Stanford and AACTE) acknowledges the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards, the Interstate Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium, and the Performance Assessment for California Teachers for their pioneering work using discipline-specific portfolio assessments to evaluate teaching quality. This version of the handbook has been developed with thoughtful input from over six hundred teachers and teacher educators representing various national design teams, national subject matter organizations (AAHPERD, ACEI, ACTFL, AMLE, CEC, IRA, NAEYC, NAGC, NCSS, NCTE, NCTM, NSTA), and content validation reviewers. All contributions are recognized and appreciated.

Understanding Rubric Level Progressions

Secondary History/Social Studies

edTPA

Fall 2014

edTPA portfolio is a collection of authentic artifacts and evidence from a candidate's actual teaching practice. Understanding Rubric Level Progressions is a KEY resource that is designed to describe the meaning behind the rubrics. A close read of the following sections will help program faculty and supervisors internalize the criteria and level distinctions for each rubric. This document is intended as a resource for program faculty and supervisors who are supporting candidates with edTPA. Faculty and supervisors are strongly encouraged to share this document with candidates and use it to support their understanding of the rubrics, as well as their development as new professionals. The Understanding Rubric Level Progressions is intended to enhance, not replace, the support that candidates receive from programs in their preparation for edTPA.

In the next section, we provide definitions and guidelines for making scoring decisions based on the "preponderance of evidence." The remainder of the document presents the score-level distinctions and other information for each edTPA Task, including:

- 1) Elaborated explanations for rubric Guiding Questions
- 2) Definitions of key terms used in rubrics
- 3) Primary sources of evidence for each rubric
- 4) Rubric-specific decision rules for multiple criteria in a rubric
- 5) Automatic 1 criteria
- 6) Examples that distinguish between levels for each rubric: Level 3, below 3 (Levels 1 and 2), and above 3 (Levels 4 and 5).

Preponderance of Evidence

Decisions about a score level are based on the "preponderance of evidence" provided by candidates and its match to rubric level criteria. The interpretation of each criterion requires the application of professional judgment. The following guidelines are applied when making scoring decisions based on the "preponderance of evidence":

When evidence falls across score points, scorers should use the following criteria while making the scoring decision:

1. A pattern of evidence supporting a particular score level has a heavier weight than isolated evidence in another score level.
2. Automatic 1 criteria outweigh all other evidence for the specific guiding question, as they reflect foundational understandings related to particular rubrics. Note that not all criteria for Level 1 are Automatic 1s. Automatic 1s are identified in this document for applicable rubrics.

SECONDARY HISTORY/SOCIAL STUDIES LEARNING SEGMENT FOCUS:

Candidate's instruction should support students in learning and using facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build and support arguments about historical events, a topic/theme, or social studies phenomenon.

PLANNING RUBRIC 1: PLANNING FOR HISTORY/SOCIAL STUDIES UNDERSTANDINGS

HSS1: How do the candidate's plans build students' understandings of facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build and support arguments about historical events, a topic/theme or social studies phenomenon?

The Guiding Question addresses how a candidate's plans build a learning segment of three to five lessons around a central focus. Candidates will explain how they plan to organize tasks, activities, and/or materials to align with the central focus and the standards/objectives. The planned learning segment must develop students' understandings of facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build and support arguments about historical events, a topic/theme or social studies phenomenon.

Key concepts of rubric:

- Aligned – standards, objectives, instructional strategies and learning tasks are “aligned” when they consistently address the same/similar learning outcomes for students.

History/Social Studies Terms Central to the edTPA:

- Facts -- knowledge or information based on real occurrences: a. something demonstrated to exist or known to have existed: b. a real occurrence; an event: c. something believed to be true or real.
- Concepts -- the categories we use to cluster information. They organize specific information under one label (shelter, family, community, democracy, region). Concepts summarize and categorize objects. The difficulty of learning a concept depends on the number of characteristics, the abstractness or concreteness, and the reasoning that connects the characteristics.
- Analysis -- detailed examination of the elements or structure of something; the process of separating something into its constituent elements.
- Interpretation -- a. to give or provide the meaning of; explain; explicate; elucidate: b. to understand in a particular way.
- Arguments -- use evidence to support claims about a historical event, topic/issue or social studies phenomenon. Evidence comes from analysis and/or interpretation of history/social studies sources.

Unpacking Rubric Levels
Level 3	Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Plans for instruction are logically sequenced to facilitate students' learning. • Plans are presented in a linear sequence in which each lesson builds on the previous one(s) OR a nonlinear sequence, e.g., when a big idea or essential question is posed and students develop an understanding of facts, concepts, and interpretations from sources to develop a position in relation to the question posed. • In addition, the sequencing of the plans supports students' learning by connecting facts with concepts, interpretations, or analyses, and building arguments during the learning segment. These connections are explicitly written in the plans or commentary, and how the connections are made is not left to the determination of the scorer. • Be sure to pay attention to each component of the subject-specific emphasis (facts and concepts, interpretations and analyses, building and supporting arguments).
Below 3	Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Plans for instruction support student learning of facts but with little or no planned instruction to develop understanding of concepts, interpretations, or analyses, and building arguments. What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: At Level 2, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the candidate is paying some attention to helping students understand what they are doing with facts, but the connections to concepts, interpretations, analyses, and building arguments are fleeting or vague so that students are largely left to make sense of these on their own. What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: At Level 1, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the candidate is focused on teaching memorization of facts or a singular interpretation of a history/social studies topic, and there is little or no attention to assisting students in understanding the concepts, interpretations, or building arguments. Automatic Score of 1 is given when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is a pattern of significant content inaccuracies that will lead to student misunderstandings. Content flaws in the plans or instructional materials are significant and systematic, and interfere with student learning • Standards, objectives, learning tasks, and materials are not aligned with each other. There is a consistent pattern of misalignment across the plans. If one standard or objective does not align within the learning segment, this level of misalignment is not significant enough for a Level 1.
Above 3	Evidence that demonstrates performance above Level 3: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Learning tasks are designed to support students to make clear, consistent connections between facts, concepts, interpretations, or analyses, and building AND supporting arguments. • Consistent connections require students to routinely apply understandings of fact, concepts, and interpretations or analyses from history/social studies sources to build and support arguments about the central focus throughout the learning segment.

What distinguishes a Level 4 from a Level 3: At Level 4,

- the candidate addresses connections between and among facts, concepts, interpretations or analyses, and building and supporting arguments in every lesson. Be sure to pay attention to each component of the subject-specific emphasis (facts and concepts, interpretations and analyses, building and supporting arguments).
- The candidate uses these connections to deepen student understanding of the central focus.

What distinguishes a Level 5 from a Level 4: At a Level 5, the candidate meets all of Level 4 AND

- the plans include activities and questions that will clearly support students in making these connections between facts and concepts, interpretations and analyses, and building and supporting arguments themselves.
- This would include plans that challenge students with either strategic questions and/or interpretations of sources that lead students to make connections between facts, concepts, and interpretations and analyses to build and support arguments and/or plans where students develop the habit of making these connections by examining sources for evidence to back up their claims and support their argument.
- How the candidate will lead students to build these explicit connections between interpretations or analyses and supporting arguments as well as the central focus of the learning segment is described in the plans or commentary.

PLANNING RUBRIC 2: Planning to Support Varied Student Learning Needs

HSS2: How does the candidate use knowledge of his/her students to target support for students to develop understandings of facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build arguments about historical events, a topic/theme, or social studies phenomenon?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate plans to support students in relationship to students' characteristics. This includes using the candidate's understanding of students to develop, choose, or adapt instructional strategies, learning tasks and materials.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

- Planned Supports include instructional strategies, learning tasks and materials, and other resources deliberately designed to facilitate student learning of the central focus.

AUTOMATIC 1

- Support according to requirements in IEPs or 504 plans is completely missing.
- If there are no students with IEPs or 504 plans, then this criterion is not applicable.

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- Supports are related to the learning objectives and central focus.
- Candidate plans supports for students that address the learning needs of the whole class while assisting them in achieving the learning objectives. None of the supports are differentiated for any students other than those required in an IEP or 504 plan.
- Candidate addresses at least one of the requirements from IEPs and 504 plans as described in the Context for Learning information.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3: Candidate plans insufficient supports to develop students' learning relative to the identified objectives or the central focus. Evidenced by ONE or more of the following:

- candidate does not plan supports for students
- planned supports are not closely tied to learning objectives or the central focus
- plans do not reflect ANY instructional requirements in IEPs or 504 plans.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: At Level 2,

- plans address at least one of the instructional requirements set forth in IEPs and 504 plans. However, it is not clear that other planned supports will be helpful in supporting students to meet the learning objectives.
- The instructional supports are not closely connected to the learning objectives or central focus (e.g., checking on students who are usually having trouble, without any specific indication of what the candidate might be checking for).

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: At Level 1,

- evidence of intentional support for students' needs as described by the candidate is absent.

	Automatic Score of 1 is given when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> If IEP/504 requirements are described in the Context for Learning or commentary but none are included in the planned support, then the rubric is scored as an Automatic Level 1, regardless of other evidence of support for the whole class or groups or individuals in the class. If the candidate describes one or more of the IEP or 504 plan requirements for any student in the lesson plans or commentary, then the score is determined by the Planned Support criterion. (If there are no students with IEPs or 504 plans, then this criterion is not applicable.)
Above 3	Evidence that demonstrates performance above 3: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plans address specific student needs through supports that will help students meet the learning objectives. If the plans and commentary attend to misconceptions or common misunderstandings without also satisfying Level 4 requirements, this is not sufficient evidence for Level 5.

PLANNING RUBRIC 3: Using Knowledge of Students to Inform Teaching and Learning

HSS3: How does the candidate use knowledge of his/her students to justify instructional plans?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate justifies the ways in which learning tasks and materials make content meaningful to students, by drawing upon knowledge of individuals or groups, as well as research or theory.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

- Deficit thinking is revealed when candidates explain low academic performance based primarily on students' cultural or linguistic backgrounds, the challenges they face outside of school or from lack of family support. When this leads to a pattern of low expectations, not taking responsibility for providing appropriate support, or not acknowledging any student strengths, this is a deficit view.

For the following terms from the rubric, see the handbook glossary:

- assets (personal/cultural/community assets)

PLANNING RUBRIC 4: Identifying and Supporting Language Demands

HSS4: How does the candidate identify and support language demands associated with a key history/social studies learning task?

The Guiding Question examines the specific language demands identified in the learning segment and identifies support for the use of this language.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

Use the definitions below to identify evidence for each language demand while scoring.

- language demands -- Specific ways that academic language (vocabulary, functions, discourse, syntax) is used by students to participate in learning tasks through reading, writing, listening, and/or speaking to demonstrate their disciplinary understanding.
- language functions -- The content and language focus of the learning task, represented by the active verbs within the learning outcomes. Common language functions in history/social studies include interpreting maps, graphs, and data tables; evaluating and interpreting an author/presenter/historian’s purpose and message; examining evidence an author/presenter/historian uses to support claims; analyzing arguments in favor of a perspective; writing/presenting persuasive arguments; analyzing and/or describing causes of historical, economic, geographic, and political events; and defending arguments with evidence.
- vocabulary -- Words and phrases that are used within disciplines including: (1) words and phrases with subject-specific meanings that differ from meanings used in everyday life (e.g., table); (2) general academic vocabulary used across disciplines (e.g., compare, analyze, evaluate); and (3) subject-specific words defined for use in the discipline.
- discourse -- Discourse includes the structures of written and oral language, as well as how members of the discipline talk, write, and participate in knowledge construction. Discipline-specific discourse has distinctive features or ways of structuring oral or written language (text structures) that provide useful ways for the content to be communicated. In history/social studies, language features include expository, narrative, journalistic, maps, and other graphic print materials; presentations of data in text, charts, and graphs; and video and live presentations. Discourse structures can be at the sentence, paragraph, or symbolic level. If the function is to develop a document-based argument, then appropriate language features could include written essays with specified formats and pattern sentences such as “The two main causes of _____ were _____ and _____. For example, the (author of) (document) stated that _____” (citation).
- syntax -- The set of conventions for organizing symbols, words, and phrases together into structures (e.g., sentences, graphs, tables).

PLANNING RUBRIC 5: Planning Assessments to Monitor and Support Student Learning HSS5: How are the informal and formal assessments selected or designed to monitor students' progress toward understanding and use of facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build arguments?
The Guiding Question addresses the alignment of the assessments to the standards and objectives and the extent to which assessments provide multiple forms of evidence to monitor student progress throughout the learning segment. INSTRUCTION RUBRIC 6: LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

HSS6: How does the candidate demonstrate a positive learning environment that supports students’ engagement in learning?

The Guiding Question addresses the type of learning environment that the candidate establishes and the degree to which it fosters respectful interactions between the candidate and students, and among students.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

1. Respect - A positive feeling of esteem or deference for a person and specific actions and conduct representative of that esteem. Respect can be a specific feeling of regard for the actual qualities of the one respected. It can also be conduct in accord with a specific ethic of respect. Rude conduct is usually considered to indicate a lack of respect, disrespect, whereas actions that honor somebody or something indicate respect. Note that respectful actions and conduct are culturally defined and may be context dependent. Note that indicators of respect may differ across cultures.
2. Rapport - a close and harmonious relationship in which the people or groups understand each other’s feelings or ideas and communicate well.

INSTRUCTION RUBRIC 8: Deepening Student Learning

HSS8: How does the candidate elicit student responses to promote their ability to interpret or analyze sources or accounts of historical events or a social studies phenomenon and support their arguments?

The Guiding Question addresses how, in the video clips, the candidate brings forth and builds on student responses to guide their learning; this can occur during whole class discussions, small group discussions, or consultations with individual students.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

- Significant content inaccuracies

Primary Sources of Evidence:

Video Clips

Instruction Commentary Prompt 4a

Note that for the Instruction Task, the commentary is intended to provide context for interpreting what is shown in the video. Candidates sometimes describe events that do not appear in the video or conflict with scenes from the video – such statements should not override evidence depicted in the video.

DECISION RULES

- N/A for this rubric

AUTOMATIC 1

- Pattern of significant content inaccuracies or a significant error in content that is core to the central focus or a key standard for the learning segment

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- The candidate prompts students to offer responses that require analyses or interpretations of history/social studies sources and/or accounts, e.g., by using “What does this source communicate or mean?” “How do you know?” and “Why?” questions. Some instruction may be characterized by initial questions focusing on facts to lay a basis for later higher-order questions in the clips.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- In the clips, classroom interactions provide students with limited or no opportunities to think and learn.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 1: At Level 2,

- the candidate asks questions that elicit right/wrong or yes/no answers and do little to encourage students to think about the content being taught.

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: At Level 1,

- there are few opportunities shown in the clips where students were able to express ideas.

Automatic Score of 1 is given when:

- There is a pattern of significant content inaccuracies that will lead to student misunderstandings.
- The candidate makes a significant error in content (e.g., introducing an inaccurate definition of a central concept before students work independently) that is core to the central focus or a key standard for the learning segment.

Evidence that demonstrates performance above 3:

- In the clips, the candidate uses student ideas and thinking to develop students’ abilities to analyze or interpret history/social studies sources and/or accounts OR support arguments. This may also include supporting students' abilities to evaluate their own learning.

What distinguishes a Level 4 from a Level 3: At Level 4,

- the candidate follows up on student responses to encourage student or his/her peers to explore or build on the ideas expressed.
- The candidate uses this strategy to develop students' analyses or interpretations of history/social studies sources and/or accounts or to develop students' abilities to support arguments.
- Examples of "building on student responses" include referring to a previous student response in developing a point or an argument; calling on the student to elaborate on what s/he said; posing questions to guide a student discussion; asking a student to summarize a lengthy discussion or rambling explanation; and asking another student to respond to a student comment or answer a question posed by a student to move instruction forward.

What distinguishes a Level 5 from a Level 4: At Level 5,

- there is evidence in the clips that the candidate structures and supports student-student conversations and interactions that facilitate students' ability to evaluate and self-monitor their learning.

INSTRUCTION RUBRIC 9: Subject-Specific Pedagogy

HSS9: How does the candidate support students in using evidence from history/social studies sources to build and support arguments?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate helps students learn how to use evidence from history/social studies sources to develop and support arguments.

Primary Sources of Evidence:

Video Clips

Instruction Commentary Prompt 4b

Note that for the Instruction Task, the commentary is intended to provide context for interpreting what is shown in the video. Candidates sometimes describe events that do not appear in the video or conflict with scenes from the video – such statements should not override evidence depicted in the video.

DECISION RULES

- N/A for this rubric

AUTOMATIC 1

- Materials or candidate responses include significant history/social studies content inaccuracies that will lead to student misunderstandings.

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- In the clips, the candidate asks or encourages students to:
 1. interpret one or more sources OR
 2. examine one or more sources to find evidence in order to develop and/or support their arguments.

These activities can be done within a whole class context, small groups, or individually.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- In the clips, the candidate is directing the learning in such a manner that the students are not being given the opportunity to examine sources to find evidence to develop or support arguments. Instead, either the candidate is focusing on teaching facts or presenting interpretations that are not generated by the students.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: At Level 2,

- the candidate centers their instruction on interpreting a source or explaining how to develop an argument or the development of a particular argument, while minimally engaging the students in the process.

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: At Level 1,

- the candidate stays focused on facts with little or no student engagement with evidence or arguments.

Automatic Score of 1 is given when:

- Materials or candidate responses include significant history/social studies content inaccuracies that will lead to student misunderstandings.

INSTRUCTION RUBRIC 10: Analyzing Teaching Effectiveness

HSS10: How does the candidate use evidence to evaluate and change teaching practice to meet students' varied learning needs?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate examines the teaching and learning in the video clips and proposes what s/he could have done differently to better support the needs of diverse students. The candidate justifies the changes based on student needs and references to research and/or theory.

AUTOMATIC 1

- None

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- The proposed changes in teaching practice relate to the central focus and address specific learning needs of the whole class from lessons that were depicted in the video clips. Proposed changes noted by the candidate should be related to the lessons that are seen or referenced in the clips, but do not need to be exclusively from what is seen in the clips alone. This means that since only portions of the lessons will be captured by the clips, candidates can suggest changes to any part of the lesson(s) referenced in the clips, even if those portions of the lesson(s) are not depicted in the clips.
- The candidate refers to research or theory in relation to the plans to support student learning. The connections between the research/theory and the tasks are not clearly made.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- The changes proposed by the candidate are not directly related to student learning.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: At Level 2,

- the changes address improvements in teaching practice that mainly focus on how the candidate structures or organizes learning tasks, with a superficial connection to student learning. There is little detail on the changes in relation to either the central focus or the specific learning that is the focus of the video clips. Examples include adjusting the pacing of activities, asking additional higher-order questions without providing examples, improving directions, including more group work without indicating how the group work will address specific learning needs.
- If a candidate's proposed changes have nothing to do with the central focus, this rubric cannot be scored beyond a Level 2.

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: At Level 1,

- The changes are not supported by evidence of student learning seen in the clips.

Evidence that demonstrates performance above 3:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The proposed changes relate to the central focus and address individual and collective needs that were within the lessons seen in the video clips.• The changes in teaching practice are supported by research and/or theory. What distinguishes a Level 4 from a Level 3: At Level 4, <ul style="list-style-type: none">• the changes proposed are clearly related to needs of individuals and groups that were seen in the video.• The candidate explains how research or theory is related to the changes proposed. ASSESSMENT RUBRIC 11: Analysis of Student Learning

HSS11: How does the candidate analyze evidence of student learning of facts, concepts, interpretation or analysis, and building arguments about historical events or a social studies phenomenon?

The Guiding Question addresses the candidate’s analysis of student work to identify patterns of learning across the class.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

- Aligned – evaluation criteria, learning objectives, and analysis are aligned with each other.
- Evaluation criteria -- Evaluation criteria should indicate differences in level of performance, e.g., a rubric, a checklist of desired attributes, points assigned to different parts of the assessment. Summative grades are not evaluation criteria. Evaluation criteria must be relevant to the learning objectives, though they may also include attention to other desired features of the assessment response, e.g., neatness, spelling.

For the following term from the rubric, see the handbook glossary:

- Patterns of learning

Primary Sources of Evidence:

AUTOMATIC 1

- Significant misalignment between evaluation criteria, learning objectives, and/or analysis.

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- The analysis is an accurate listing of what students did correctly and incorrectly, and is aligned with the summary.
- Some general differences in learning across the class are identified.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- The analysis is superficial (e.g., primarily irrelevant global statements) or focuses only on partial data (on right or wrong answers or only on procedures or facts).
- The analysis is contradicted by the work sample evidence.
- The analysis is based on an inconsistent alignment with evaluation criteria and/or standards/objectives.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: There are two ways that evidence is scored at Level 2:

1. Although aligned with the summary, the analysis presents an incomplete picture of student learning by only addressing either successes or errors.
2. The analysis does not address facts, concepts, interpretations or analyses, and building arguments about historical events or a social studies phenomenon.

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: There are two ways that evidence is scored at Level 1:

1. The analysis is superficial because it ignores important evidence from the work samples, focusing on trivial aspects.
2. The conclusions in the analysis are not supported by the work samples or the summary of learning.

	Automatic Score of 1 is given when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is a significant lack of alignment between evaluation criteria, learning objectives, and/or analysis. • A lack of alignment can be caused by a lack of relevant criteria to evaluate student performance on the learning objectives.

An exhaustive list of what students did right and wrong, or the % of students with correct or incorrect responses, should be scored at Level 3, as that does not constitute a pattern of student learning. A pattern of student learning goes beyond these quantitative differences to identify underlying content understandings, misunderstandings, or partial understandings that are contributing to the quantitative differences. • Specific examples from work samples are used to demonstrate the whole class patterns. What distinguishes a Level 5 from a Level 4: At Level 5, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The candidate uses specific evidence from work samples to demonstrate qualitative patterns of understanding. The analysis uses these qualitative patterns to interpret the range of similar correct or incorrect responses for individuals or groups (quantitative patterns); and to determine elements of what students learned and what would be most productive to work on. The qualitative patterns may include struggles, partial understandings, and/or attempts at solutions.

ASSESSMENT RUBRIC 12: Providing Feedback to Guide Learning

HSS12: What type of feedback does the candidate provide to focus students?

The Guiding Question addresses the evidence of feedback provided to the focus students. Feedback may be written on the three student work samples or provided in a video/audio format. The feedback should identify what students are doing well and what needs to improve in relation to the learning objectives.

Key Concepts of Rubric

- Significant content inaccuracies – see Automatic 1 explanation
- Developmentally inappropriate feedback – Feedback addressing concepts, skills, or procedures well above or below the content assessed (without clearly identified need) OR feedback that is not appropriate for the developmental level of the student (e.g., lengthy written explanations for English learners or feedback to a student with an explanation that references a concept later in the curriculum).

Primary Sources of Evidence:

DECISION RULES

Unpacking Rubric Levels

Level 3

Evidence that demonstrates performance at Level 3:

- The feedback is specific enough to assist the focus students in understanding specific strengths OR needs for improvement. The candidate MUST provide students with qualitative feedback about their performance that is aligned with objectives. Checkmarks, points deducted, grades marked, or scores are not enough to meet Level 3, even if they distinguish errors from correct responses.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- Evidence of feedback is general, unrelated to the assessed learning objectives, developmentally inappropriate, inaccurate, or missing for one or more students.

What distinguishes a Level 2 from a Level 3: At Level 2,

- feedback is related to the learning objectives, but is too vague to assist the focus students in understanding specific strengths or needs for improvement.

What distinguishes a Level 1 from a Level 2: There are two ways that evidence is scored at Level 1:

- Feedback is not related to the learning objectives.
- Feedback is not developmentally appropriate.

Automatic Score of 1 is given when:

ASSESSMENT RUBRIC 14: Analyzing Students' Language Use and History/Social Studies Learning

HSS14: How does the candidate analyze students' use of language to develop content understanding?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate explains the opportunities students had to use the academic language associated with the identified language function. These opportunities should support understanding of the central focus and develop history/social studies understanding.

Key Concepts of Rubric:

- language demands -- Specific ways that academic language (vocabulary, functions, discourse, syntax) is used by students to participate in learning tasks through reading, writing, listening, and/or speaking to demonstrate their disciplinary understanding.
- language functions -- The content and language focus of the learning task represented by the active verbs within the learning outcomes. Common language functions in history/social studies include interpreting maps, graphs, and data tables; evaluating and interpreting an author/presenter/historian's purpose and message; examining evidence an author/presenter/historian uses to support claims; analyzing arguments in favor of a perspective; writing/presenting persuasive arguments; analyzing and/or describing causes of historical, economic, geographic, and political events; and defending arguments with evidence.
- vocabulary -- Words and phrases that are used within disciplines including: (1) words and phrases with subject-specific meanings that differ from meanings used in everyday life (e.g., table); (2) general academic vocabulary used across disciplines (e.g., compare, analyze, evaluate); and (3) subject-specific words defined for use in the discipline.
- discourse -- Discourse includes the structures of written and oral language, as well as how members of the discipline talk, write, and participate in knowledge construction. Discipline-specific discourse has distinctive features or ways of structuring oral or written language (text structures) that provide useful ways for the content to be communicated. In history/social studies, language features include expository, narrative, journalistic, maps, and other graphic print materials; presentations of data in text, charts, and graphs; and video and live presentations. Discourse structures can be at the sentence, paragraph, or symbolic level. If the function is to develop a document-based argument, then appropriate language features could include written essays with specified formats and pattern sentences such as "The two main causes of _____ were _____ and _____. For example, the (author of) (document) stated that _____" (citation).
- syntax -- The set of conventions for organizing symbols, words, and phrases together into structures (e.g., sentences, graphs, tables).

ASSESSMENT RUBRIC 15: Using Assessment to Inform Instruction

HSS15: How does the candidate use the analysis of what students know and are able to do to plan next steps in instruction?

The Guiding Question addresses how the candidate uses conclusions from the analysis of student work and research or theory to propose the next steps of instruction. Next steps should be related to the standards/objectives assessed and based on the assessment that was analyzed. They also should address the whole class, groups with similar needs, and/or individual students.

- The candidate refers to research or theory when describing the next steps. The connections between the research/theory and the next steps are not clearly made.

Evidence that demonstrates performance below 3:

- The next steps are not directly focused on student learning needs that were identified in the analysis of the assessment.
- Candidate does not explain how next steps are related to student learning.

What distinguishes Level 2 from Level 3: At Level 2,

- the next steps are related to the analysis of student learning and the standards and learning objectives assessed.
- The next steps address improvements in teaching practice that mainly focus on how the candidate structures or organizes learning tasks, with a superficial connection to student learning.
