

Learner Selfie
ED 456/ED 533E ~ University of Portland ~ EdMethods.com
Fall 2015 ~ Instructor: Peter Pappas

Assignment for Class 2: Think about "Santos" from Snapshot of a Modern Learner

1. What do you know about him?
2. How does he best learn?
3. How should he be taught?

Think about yourself as a learner. Use the same 3 prompts we used with Santos. Create a brief "selfie" of yourself as a learner that you can share with a classmate in our next session.

1. It does not need to use an ed tech perspective (as Santos's snapshot did), unless that's how you learn.
2. It's not actually a selfie. But, like Santos - it's a Snapshot of a Learner - You
3. It can take any form you choose - written narrative, cartoon, diagram, Powerpoint, Webcam video, Pinterest. (it doesn't have to be digital). Think about "Reading 2" above. That's why I'm letting you choose the product format.
4. It should be something you can share with a classmate at our next class. Key point to consider - Will make sense to someone else without you having to explain it?

In class 2 you will share your "selfie" snapshot and we'll take it from there.

Based on edTPA

HSS2: How does the candidate use knowledge of his/her students to target support for students to develop understandings of facts, concepts, and interpretations or analyses to build arguments about historical events, a topic/theme, or social studies phenomenon?

HSS3: How does the candidate use knowledge of his/her students to justify instructional plans?